This is the Class Blog for Year 1 and 2. Teachers will post learning and information onto the blog. Your child may also like to share work and ideas for others and they can do this by clicking on the green add symbol. A teacher will need to approve their post so it will not appear on the blog straight away. This will be a great space for us to share our home learning.

If you click on a blog post, you can leave a comment down the bottom. This may be saying that you like the post or it could be a question you would like us to try and answer.
